We continue our strong commitment to providing a flow of information from the pilot community to the members of the Chicago Executive Airport Board and from them back to our pilot community.

Join us in making a commitment to excellence - in safety education, in representation of the CEA pilot population, in working for improvements at KPWK, and in providing scholarship opportunities for worthy aviation students.

PAPA members fly for business and commercial purposes, give flight instruction, take flight instruction for recurrent training and for new ratings, fly for breakfast, lunch and/or dinner, and just fly for fun.

Did you fly this month?

PAPA MEMBERS AND OTHER PILOTS ENJOYED A NEW RESTAURANT!!!

On a beautiful Saturday, November 17, a large group of aviation enthusiasts took flight for KRPJ—Rochelle Illinois, home of the fairly new Flight Deck Restaurant. We joined up with the Grumman Gatherers who get together regularly at various sites in the Midwest. Our part of the group had 6 airplanes and 11 people. The ramp was full. The meals were very good. The flights were all conducted safely. What more could you ask for????

Illinois Volunteers Support Hurricane Sandy Relief Efforts

WHEELING, IL — As HURICANE SANDY relief efforts continue on the eastern seaboard, a number of Palwaukee Squadron volunteers are undertaking support operations to assist federal and state agencies in the aftermath. The crews, based at Chicago Executive Airport, deployed less than 24 hours after a Search and Rescue exercise (SAREX) was hosted with Lake County Emergency Agency personnel at CEA. Their participation with FEMA was for 4-10 days, based on their availability.

As the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) continues to sort through estimating storm impact, and identifying areas in critical need of resources, members of the Illinois Wing of Civil Air Patrol (CAP) are deploying to those areas at FEMA's request. Currently, these CAP members are involved with aerial photography missions along the East Coast, utilizing state of the art technologies and real-time imaging. They are joined by CAP aircrews from all over the eastern half of the US, with over a dozen from the Midwest alone.

'CAP crews get a pre-flight briefing on the day's flight assignments'

In what is now the single largest photo reconnaissance mission ever undertaken by the Civil Air Patrol, and one of the largest ever by FEMA, these volunteer aircrews are tasked with photographing the entirety of the coastline. Ranging from New Hampshire through the Carolinas, each CAP aircraft and crew are taking approximately 1500 photos per sortie....or one picture every 5 seconds. These photo flights will then be electronically 'stitched' together, making one continuous panoramic photograph of the coastline.

'New York City waterfront assesment'
Capt. Mike Grenz / CAP

When completed, these photos will enable critical analysis of the affected areas, and help to identify areas in the most urgent need of resources and support. The support can then be prioritized by local, state, and federal agencies in almost 'real time'.

'CAP aircraft from all over the Midwest assemble at New Hampshire base' Capt. Mike Grenz/ CAP

The CAP members deployed there are all volunteers, many taking time away from local jobs and families to render aid to those still suffering. And while more personnel will be assisting in the weeks ahead, this isn't the first large-scale relief effort Illinois members have supported. Personnel from the Squadron have directly supported operations in recent years related to severe Kentucky ice-storms, Mississippi River flooding, Indiana flood relief, Hurricane Katrina, and many others. The Illinois Wing commander, Lt. Col. Rick Oeth, knows better than anyone just how committed CAP members are from this state. "I am very pleased that the members of Illinois Wing have responded to the requests for assistance in photographing damaged areas of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, and New Jersey. I am truly fortunate to command a Wing of highly skilled volunteers who have no shortage of dedication or volunteerism".

Civil Air Patrol, the official Air Force auxiliary, is a nonprofit organization with almost 62,000 members nationwide. It performs 95% of continental U.S. inland search and rescue missions as tasked by the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center. Volunteers also perform homeland security, disaster relief and counterdrug missions at the request of federal, state and local agencies. The members take a leading role in aerospace education and serve as mentors to the almost 27,000 young people currently participating in CAP cadet programs. CAP has been performing missions for America for 70 years.
